Premier Lloyd George announced in commons that it is impossible for Great Britain to accept any plan to pay the British debt to the United States fully if Britain cancels the debts owing to her by the allies. HARDING STILL HAS HOPES OF SETTLING STRIKE

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Although the outlook was not bright, hopes for peaceful settlement in both rail and coal strikes were still held by President Harding and his cabinet aides today as they began another week of strenuous effort to remedy a situation that is fast running the country into paralysis. In the rail strike President Harding is still pinning his hopes to the railway labor board at Chicago. In his own words, the board is the "agency of government set up by law," to deal with such matters, and he does not yet consider it has failed sufficiently to warrant sterner action by the executive branch of the government. In the coal strike the president and his advisers awaited the answer of the bituminous operators to the government mediation proposal of last week, which has been accepted by the anthracite operators and turned down flatly by the United Mine Workers. This answer likely will be delivered at the White House late today.

L. A. CORONER'S JURY ACCUSES MRS. PHILLIPS

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—The coroner's jury, at the conclusion of the inquest today over the body of pretty 20-year-old Alberta Meadows, "hammer murder victim," returned a verdict that Mrs. Meadows "came to her death from a fracture of the skull by blows from a hammer in the hands of Mrs. Clara Phillips with premeditated intent to kill and murder." The jury heard Mrs. Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl, publicly accuse her friend, 23-year-old Clara Phillips, also a former chorus girl, of brutally beating the young widow to death with a hammer last Wednesday afternoon at a lonely spot on Montecito drive. When Mrs. Caffee reached the point in her story where she told Mrs. Phillips furiously showering blows upon the defenseless head of the stricken girl who was begging for mercy, she completely broke down. Hysterical sobs interrupted her account of one of the most atrocious crimes in the history of California. She gasped and choked and appeared on the point of fainting, while her frame was shaken by a nervous chill. She asked for a glass of water, and it was several minutes before she could continue her testimony.

NEW SYSTEM FOR G. & M. RAILWAY IS EFFECTIVE

Cars Will Discharge and Receive Passengers on East Side Maryland' Beginning today, cars of the Glendale and Montrose railway will no longer discharge and receive passengers near the corner of Brand and Broadway.

P. L. Hatch, superintendent of the line, has received notice from Chief of Police J. D. Fraser that the city ordinance forbidding the movement of cars against traffic is to be enforced. Since the crossover is just east of Maryland, the cars will now come as far as the east side of Maryland, discharge passengers, and as soon as those waiting for the car are aboard, will start back. They will no longer be allowed to stand for several minutes before starting on the return trip as the city ordinance forbids that also.

Traffic On Increase

The volume of automobile and other traffic in Glendale is on such a constant increase that some time ago the ordinance was passed regulating electric cars so as to eliminate some of the crowded conditions caused when a car stands at its terminus and then starts back on the left hand side of the street. "We do not consider that we are being unduly limited in our operations," says Mr. Hatch, commenting on the recent order. "We have enjoyed the privilege of running our cars almost to Brand. Letting them stand there, and then turning them back against traffic for more than a block, for some time since the ordinance was passed.

Mirror Being Tried

As the situation now stands, the cars cannot come as far west as the G. & M. station at 119 East Broadway. The cost of putting in a crossover in front of the station would be so great that the results would not justify it, and, unless the cars come to the station, it is difficult for persons in the waiting room to tell when the cars are in. To solve this difficulty Mr. Hatch is considering putting in some kind of indicator. Today he was to try the effect of a mirror placed diagonally in the west window, in which from the waiting room one might see reflected the traffic coming west on Broadway and so tell when the cars are at the terminal.

DR. LEWIS CHAFER OF PHILADELPHIA SPEAKS HERE

Greatest of All Problems Chosen As Topic for Address on Sunday

Dr. Lewis Sperry Chaffer of Philadelphia, who was one of the speakers at the recent World's Conference on Fundamentals in Los Angeles, preached yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church. "The greatest of all problems is: Why God permitted sin," asserted Rev. Chaffer. "There was that in God which no angel had ever seen—the ability to love and to save that which is unlovely, loveless in itself. "There was a tiny, toddling child about to fall into the fire. The mother threw herself between and saved it at the cost of terribly burned hands. As he grew older she longed to tell him but wisely waited till he should come to an age to reap the sense of it. Then, when he noticed and questioned, she told him. He understood and kissed those hands with tears of gratitude.

"There is a man in the glory who bears those scars of saving us. When He comes back, He is going to be recognized by them. What do these scars mean to you? Will you avoid them or will you kiss them?"
Message for Today
"He, who spoke creation into existence, could have avoided all that. But no. He met and bore all the sin of all the sinners. "The message of God today is: 'Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.' It is for you to meet and accept the offer. You may say many nice things of Him but, until you have accepted the great sacrifice He made, you have not believed. The moment you have believed then God answers with your infinite, perfect glorious salvation.

"The Lord Jesus Christ is the image of the Father in wisdom and love. When He puts His hand on a child's head, when He heals, that is what God is like. And so in all He did. "Has God said anything to you by His Son? Are things any different in your life on this account? No man hath fully seen God, that is, until Christ appeared. He had been revealed partly to all the world by the things of creation. But none ever saw Him fully until Christ. He had never left the bosom of the Father. He came into the world never leaving it. He came to declare the bosom of the Father. Have you ever sensed this? The truth needs to be a transforming power in you."

WORLD WIDE TRIP IS ENJOYED BY PHILATHEAS

Annandale Methodists' Club Entertained at Homes of Several Members

"A Trip Around the World" was the unique feature staged by the Philathea club of the Annandale Methodist church last Friday evening. More than a hundred guests of the club made the trip, leaving port at the corner of Buena Vista Terrace and Eagle Rock avenue at 7:30. Since boats could not be procured, the trip was made by automobile.

The first journey took the party to Holland at the home of Miss Nellie Ford on Virginia Lane. The house was decorated after the Dutch style, and the girls were dressed very quaintly like the lassies of old Holland. In Holland the guests were served with crackers and cheese.

From Holland the party traveled to Old Mexico, at the home of Miss Virginia Kathon on Fairmont Way. Furnishings and decorations were in the true old Spanish style, and a touch of Mexico was lent by the hot tamales served there. The next stopping place was the home of Mildred Brewer on Annandale Way. The home was a picturesque beautiful Italy, and the romantic touch was enhanced by the spaghetti served in true Italian style.

A piece of the Orient was found at the next stopping place, at the home of Lucille Myslik on Crestwood Way, which represented Japan. The girls were dressed in the Japanese fashion, and although they are said to have attempted slant eyes, they didn't get much farther than a good American wink. Rice cakes and olives were served, and the party went on, making a big jump to the Emerald Isle.

Kiss Blarney Stone
The home of Mrs. G. A. Porter, Oak Grove avenue, was done to represent Ireland, and there the guests partied in an Irish way, and all kissed the Blarney stone. The Irish national food seemed to be potato salad. Another big jump halfway around the world took the tourists to China at the home of Miss Bossie Nixon on Eagle Rock avenue. The yard was decorated in Chinese fashion, with paper lanterns and other ornaments. The girls were dressed in Chinese pajamas, and everyone drank tea and ate rice with chop sticks.

The voyagers were glad to return to America at the home of Mrs. Albert Rutter of Oak Grove avenue. Here an impressive tableau was presented. Represented in the tableau was a Civil War veteran, a doughboy, and an Irish soldier on a stretcher. Beside the wounded man stood a red cross nurse. Facing the group was the beautiful Goddess of Liberty lighting them on their way. Guests Enjoy Doughnuts
During the presentation of the tableau "America the Beautiful" was sung, impressing the gathering with the fact that after all there's no country like ours. As a typical American food, doughnuts were served, and the guests enjoyed themselves in true American fashion. One of the unique features of the trip was the kind of ticket sold to each person. For the charge of 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, they received a long ticket from which a few inches were clipped at each stopping place. The proceeds of the trip, it is understood, are to go into the club treasury with a view to a newly-furnished class room.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

OUR DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

There is no power equal to the power of the written word of the daily press on all subjects, art, science, music, literature, religion, sociology—all, and the responsibility is great of any writer on these subjects.

I have been asked to write a daily article for you on the promotion and maintenance of health. To write such a column and give advice regarding so vital a thing as health—health, upon which all one's activities and happiness depend—is a responsibility greater by far than the responsibility that rests upon writers on any other subject.

Many lives, your own and the lives of those you hold most dear, may at some time depend upon some knowledge thus derived and depended upon.

To direct the diets and habits of growing children so that they may gain in stature and strength and health for future citizenship and happy homes—to guide the diet and health habits of adults so that they may gain and maintain health and efficiency to carry on the world's work, this is an irresponsible task!

So it is with a profound feeling of the seriousness of the work that I have agreed to write for you, my readers in The Glendale Evening News.

I feel very deeply that what I write must have thoughtful, intensive study, accurate observation, logic and science as a basis, and that I must always realize my accountability. I shall do that to the best of my power.

I want my readers to feel the confidence in me as a writer that they feel for their well-beloved family physician. I shall not try to take his place in any manner in prescribing for diseases that should have his personal attention. That is not my idea of a health column. Rather, shall I write on the prevention of disease and the promotion of health.

The prevention of disease and the promotion of health—that shall be our motto.

Now that you know and I realize the responsibility of my work, let us relax a bit and get off of the serious services. It hurts me to write in a serious, dignified manner very long. It is not my role as a physician or a writer. Not always merry and gay—that's tiresome, too—but most always bright and fair.

The chief reason I am asked to do this column (aside from my great fitness otherwise!) is because I am able to write scientific articles with enough fun thrown in to disguise the fact that they are scientific and really teach some much needed lessons. We hope you are all going to enjoy this column every day as well as profit by it.

We shall call this column "Diet and Health." Some little, I'll say, won't you? Can you think of anything that we cannot cover under that? I shall answer any questions that can be answered in the columns of a daily paper, and the questions and discussions and soul-to-soul talks ought to be half the life of the party.

Any questions that have to be answered privately, you must take to your own family physician. Later, I shall have certain days devoted to babies and children—I like 'em—and to other important matters.

But for the first series I shall start a very modest little campaign. One should always begin modestly.

I shall start a campaign in which I know at least three-quarters of you will co-operate with enthusiasm. This modest little campaign will be to prevent the following trifling ailments: Diabetes, stomach troubles, heart disease, arterio-sclerosis, kidney disease, cancer, apoplexy and flat-feet.

These can all be prevented in a large measure by a campaign against one thing—and that one thing is obesity, or to use the short and ugly term, FAT! Hurrah! You're with me! I knew it. We're off!

Canned Fruit and Bathing Suits Are Required at Homes

An innovation in the routine of "canning" season for Glendale housewives is that each one has been invited to play the part of good fairy to some kiddie at the Monte Vista or Playa del Rey homes by sending one jar of fruit from the family's fruit shelf.

These homes are maintained by the Council of Community Service for Los Angeles county, and Mrs. O. H. Belew, Glendale representative, is asking Glendale women to contribute jars of home canned fruit.

There are many delicate children in the homes that can't eat factory canned fruit and Mrs. Belew is assisting in securing a supply of fruit like mother cans.

A plunge in the swimming pool at Monte Vista or jumping the waves at Playa del Rey also delight the youngsters' hearts, but they must have bathing suits to enjoy these sports and a bathing suit plea is another plea made by Mrs. Belew to Glendale people.

Mrs. Belew can be reached by calling Glendale 2604-J.

Plumbers of Three Cities Enjoy Outing

Master, merchant and journeyman plumbers of Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank, with their families, forgot pipes and joints and Stillsons Saturday while they enjoyed a picnic and barbecue at Brookside park, Pasadena. More than 300 attended the all-day affair.

Glendale and Burbank plumbers and their families met in front of the postoffice in Glendale at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and left there in automobiles for Eagle Rock, where that delegation joined them at Colorado and Central avenues. Soon after their arrival at Brookside park the festivities were begun.

A program covering the morning and afternoon had been arranged, and a large number of prizes were up for the winners. A tug of war, foot races and novelty races of all kinds were featured. The contests, swimming and other pastimes occupied the time until 1 o'clock when lunch was served.

Several of the craftsmen had been busy preparing the barbecue, and under the direction of "Head Carver" Franklin of Burbank the beef was served to the hungry picnickers, with "all the fixin's" and drinks.

In the afternoon the remaining contests were run off under the direction of Guy Pixley of Glendale, who was in charge of the sports. Late in the afternoon some of the delegates returned to their homes, but a large number remained until evening, and a bountiful dinner was served.

Today the plumbers are all back on the job, reminiscing of the "big time" they enjoyed Saturday.

EGG SHAMPOOS

The quickest and easiest shampoo is given with an egg and liquid castile soap. The egg is so cleansing that it facilitates washing the hair, it dries more quickly because it is thoroughly clean, and it is sure to be soft, fluffy and glossy afterwards.

The only difficulty with such a shampoo is that the egg should be rubbed on the scalp 30 minutes to an hour before the hair is washed. At first it is sticky and then, as the egg hardens, the hair becomes stiff. But you can go about your household duties, or you can sew or read so the time is not wasted.

The whole egg, yolk and white, should be thoroughly beaten and rubbed directly over the scalp and the hair. All the hair should be covered; if it is unusually long and thick two eggs may be necessary. If there is a great deal of dandruff a tablespoonful of olive oil should be added to the egg after it has been beaten.

The castile soap should previously have been melted with enough hot water to form a thin paste. After the egg has dried the hair is given a thorough soaping and rinsed with warm water. Then the soap is used again with quite hot water, lathered thoroughly over the scalp and rinsed with hot and gradually cooling water until the scalp is free of soap and grease. If possible the hair should be dried in the sun.

The yolk of the egg contains a great deal of sulphur which is invaluable for dandruff and other skin troubles. As the egg dries it takes up the dirt, grease and dandruff which have collected on the scalp leaving a clean and healthy surface. For mild cases of dandruff this is the only treatment necessary.

S. B.—A shiny and red face would indicate that your liver was sluggish and there was poor elimination. Drink more water and live on a simpler diet until your skin shows an improvement.

C. O. D.—An excellent soap is the old-fashioned castile made from olive oil, although the market is full of other good soaps, also.

Marie R.—A girl with a full face can wear a small hat as well as a large one. It is merely a matter of taste as to which style is best to combine with the rest of the costume. Hats now are so artistic in their lines they can always be made to suit any face.

An egg gives a quick and easy shampoo.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Urges Mental Clinic For Flirting Hubbies

KANSAS CITY—Marital discord, in many cases, can be settled better by a psychiatrist than a judge, according to Dr. Karl A. Henninger, president of the Kansas Mental Hygienic society.

The psychiatrist can point out to the erring husband or wife how bad mental habits are wrecking marital felicity and can suggest methods of cure.

Children who continually lie and steal and girls who are "crazy" about the boys, shouldn't be spanked, but should be brought to the mental clinic to have their minds diagnosed.

PLENTY OF LAUGHS IN PRODUCTION AT GLENDALE

'Too Much Business,' Seven Reels of Comedy, on Program for Tonight

There is a laugh in every foot of "Too Much Business," the seven-reel comedy shown at the Glendale Theatre. It is based on the story by Earl Derr Biggers, author of "The Seven Keys to Baldpate," and a number of others.

The story is woven around a young man who is enterprising enough, but lax in punctuality. He also believes in taking time from business to make love to the fair secretary of his boss. The girl, however, is strictly businesslike, and she gives him a magazine to read an article on making life affairs strictly business.

John Henry, disgusted, throws the magazine on his desk and tears off his holiday calendar. The "O.V." of November falls upon the magazine obliterating the "IF" in life and making the story read "Make your love affairs strictly business."

Believes in Signs Evidently John Henry believes in signs for he immediately conducts a business campaign to win the hand of his heart's desire. She, in trying to help him, oversteps her bounds and succeeds in getting the young man discharged. Without a boss and with the boss threatening to present him from getting another, John Henry goes into business for himself and gets a position in a day nursery in which he gets too much business, and the complications that follow are not only laughable but exceptionally funny.

There will be only one show tonight as Manager William A. Howe has secured a preview of "Up and At 'Em," a five act farce comedy starring Doris May. There are thirteen reels of laughs—nothing unlucky about that unless you are late and fail to get a seat. So be early.

Government Revises White Potato Grades

WASHINGTON—In response to a widespread demand, the department of agriculture has put into effect revised United States grades for white potatoes.

The revised grades provide for the elimination from United States No. 1 of misshapen potatoes and potatoes affected by hollow heart, and the addition of a grade known as No. 1 small.

These modifications, it was stated, have been approved by a large majority of 400 of the principal factors in the potato industry, to whom they were submitted for consideration before being put into effect.

Paris Nobles Take Up Work for Fair

PARIS—"Go to work" is the newest craze among Paris noblemen. Asserting that he was tired of the social round, Count Georges de Castellane started the fad by making a job as paying teller for a banking concern. He refused to accept more than $50 a month. He arrives every morning in his speedster and works for nine hours.

One of the latest innovations of Paris is the phosphorescent dress. It is obtained by arranging tiny electric bulbs on material that has a luminous quality. The effect, when the bulbs are lighted, is startling.

Young People Give Pageant at Church

Before an audience of more than 300 members and friends of the Pacific Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of this city a group of young people of the First Methodist church of San Pedro last night presented the famous pageant, entitled "The Challenge of the Cross," at the local house of worship on South Pacific avenue. The affair, which was declared as a brilliantly enacted spectacle by many who witnessed it, was presented under the direction of Albert J. Cole of San Pedro.

The story around which the pageant is woven depicts the various walks of life and the call to service by the Master. The many excuses and alibis offered by the cross-bearers tend to portray the many reasons that the average modern person offers for not taking an active part in Christian work and endeavors.

The part of the Evangel was appropriately taken by Miss Rachel Johnson, and her six disciples consisted of the following: Miss Edith Clark, Miss Helen Meldahl, Mrs. Tena Carey, Miss Frances Rider, Miss Joyce Tucker, and Miss Thelma Homer.

The various musical numbers which accompanied the pageant throughout the performance were furnished by a mixed quartette, the members of which were Mrs. Albert Cole, soprano; Miss Joyce Tucker, alto; H. L. Williamson, tenor; W. Jeffrey, bass; Albert Cole, tenor. Additional selections were furnished by a San Pedro male quartette, which included Thomas McIntire, Scott McIntire, Wilfred Jeffrey and Herbert Williamson.

Following the presentation of the pageant, Rev. Harley G. Preston introduced Mr. Cole and spoke in appreciation of the fine work that the visitors were doing.

Prior to the pageant the young people taking part in the portrayal were served with delicious refreshments in the social hall of the church. Mrs. Harley G. Preston and Miss E. H. Scott were in charge of the serving.

MEN, WOMEN AND TELEPHONES

Why is it that men as a rule like the telephone so much less than women do?

It is so, isn't it?

A man called my attention the other day to this difference of the two sexes toward that small but influential instrument and asked me if I agreed with him that it existed, and if so, how I could account for it.

"When things come up, my wife always says 'I'll telephone' where if it were left to me I'd write or let it go," he declared. "And when the post rings at night, my wife usually seems pleased but I hate to hear the darn thing. You have to use them for business but no visiting over them for me."

Perhaps in that last sentence is one key to the difference in feeling. Men have to use the telephone so much for business that they don't care to have anything to do with the instrument out of business hours.

And here's another explanation. The average man's life is led under conditions which make an interchange of casual conversation with his fellow workers part of the day's routine. Whereas a woman works in the house alone, or with only small children to talk with. The telephone is a welcome outlet for her social instincts. It takes the place of the back fence as a chat conductor. And it has this vast advantage over the back fence, that it makes it possible for her to talk with the people she enjoys most instead of with those who happen to live next door to her.

"When He Was Courting"

"But what I don't understand," said another man with whom I was discussing this subject, "is the way a woman feels so at home with a telephone and talks just as naturally over it as if she were sitting opposite the person she's talking to. Men aren't at home on a telephone. Now, when I was courting my wife I used to go out to see her every other night, and the alternate night I'd telephone. Well, after I'd told her how business was and when I'd get out the next day, and so forth, I was through, but she wanted to go on talking. And then if I didn't, she'd think I didn't care as much as I did at first."

A third man whom I consulted on this all important subject had a very interesting suggestion to offer.

"An Hour's Chat"

"I can't tell you why women love to telephone so," he said, "that's beyond me. But I can tell you one reason why men hate it. Because when they have to call their homes for any purpose they have such a devil of a time getting the line. And then they find their wives have been having an hour's chat with some other woman and that makes them sore on the whole proposition."

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Happiness at Beaches Defends Mocking Birds Interesting Building Facts Business Is Good Here

By Gil A. Cowan

HOW many thousands were at the beaches yesterday? Probably you who were there would not venture a guess, but it seemed as though more than half of the population of Southern California was packed along the seashore.

And the more the merrier—everybody in the swim, as it were. So many people have learned the joy to be had out in the open on the sands that few miss the pleasures over the week-end.

If you want to find happiness go to the beach any afternoon and there you will find everyone enjoying themselves, even to the little boy that yells like a fire whistle every time mamma and papa pass up an ice cream counter. Once in a while there is something suggested and written in Comment that doesn't happen to suit some one else. Somebody said, "Take a 'shot' at the mocking birds which disturb our slumbers." So we did.

Here is what E. M. Stanley, 108 North Everett street, Glendale, has to say: "Possibly in some cases it may be true, but personally I protest the statement that the singing of the mocking birds at night 'would make a sick person sicker than sick.' To me they speak of companionship during the long weary hours, and also the joy of living, for surely their song is one of happiness and good will. If they can lift their voices in song in the night, why cannot we who are also awake in the darkness thrill to their notes of cheer and be sure, "God's in His heaven, "All's right with the world!"

The writer, not being sick much, is prone to say that the mocking birds can mock all they want to, but certainly we do pity the person whose insomnia is aggravated by the racket.

A flute is one of the most beautifully toned instruments, but we will leave it to any reasonable person that the playing of such a pipe during the wee hours of night would call out the guards. Ripping of cloth is very interesting to the seamstress, but it sets some people's teeth on edge. And so it goes. The factor of sound on the nervous system in some instances is very disturbing while in others it is exhilarating.

For instance, the majority of people do not like raucous jazz. And yet there are those who can hardly live without it.

Here is a building summary that will interest every property owner, every constructionist and every other person looking to the future of Southern California, it being republished from the Southwest Builder and Contractor:

Building operations in the Southwest for the first six months of 1922 show an enormous gain in comparison with those for the corresponding period of the previous year, thirty-four cities, including Los Angeles, reporting a total valuation of $96,122,459 for permits for the first half of 1922, against $69,404,972 for the first half of 1921. This is a gain of slightly less than 60 per cent. Thirty-three cities outside Los Angeles report for six months of 1922 a total of $36,663,299, as compared with $26,102,498 for the corresponding period in 1921, a gain of a little more than 40 per cent.

Los Angeles' great gain is the outstanding feature of the reports for the first half of the current year. Remarkable gains are also shown by Pasadena, about 72 per cent; by Glendale, about 70 per cent; and by Long Beach, about 32 per cent. Santa Ana, Santa Monica and Santa Barbara more than doubled their valuation. Outside of Los Angeles, ten cities reported a valuation in excess of one million dollars as compared with seven cities reporting a million dollars or more for the first half of 1921. Only seven cities report a decrease for the first six months of 1922 as compared with the corresponding period the preceding year. San Diego fell short a little more than a million dollars.

Business in Glendale this year, for the first time in the memory of the writer, is maintaining a stride through the warm weather that is most encouraging.

Practically no one complains about dull times, for there "ain't no such animal," as my old circus friend used to say.

And several business concerns here are expanding at present. Good!

KIND WISH
When Jean went to her little neighbor's to visit she often talked to the grandmother of the house. "I have a grandmother, too," she would say, "but she's in heaven."

And she and the grandmother of the house were good friends until one day the grandmother was cross. She scolded the two little girls for leaving the screen door open, for walking in a flower bed and dropping crumbs on the floor.

The two youngsters sought refuge on the porch. Grandmother started to follow them there a little later, to try to make up. She realized the necessity of doing so when she reached the door, for she heard Jean say: "Ruth, I wish your grandmother was visitin' my grandmother today."

Platinum coins were formerly issued in Russia, beginning in 1828, when platinum was worth only about one-third as much as gold. The nominal value of the coins issued was about $3,000,000, but the metal in them would now bring nearly $50,000,000.

MULTI-STAGE AUDIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFICATION

If the signal strength after rectification of the oscillation is not brought up to sufficient value in one amplifier tube it is necessary to use more in what is known as cascade connection. The connections are shown in the circuit diagram, which is, no doubt, quite familiar to all. Two stages of amplifier tubes, but these may be used quite nicely if care is taken. If the voltage transformation ratio of the first transformer is eight the voltage variations applied to the grid of the first amplifier tube are eight times greater than the voltage from the detector. In this case the negative grid bias in this first tube may be one volt with a certain tube. It would at any rate be comparatively low, and the voltage drop across a portion of the filament rheostat might be used to advantage. Assuming that the tube has a voltage amplification constant of five, and the next transformer of a step-up ratio of nine, the voltage variations applied to the grid of the second amplifier tube are 320 times as great as the voltage from the detector and considerably higher than the voltage variations applied to the grid of the first amplifier tube. In the plate circuit, then, there are audio frequency variations 1,600 times greater than those in the plate circuit of the detector tube because the second amplifier tube is also assumed to have an amplification factor of five. With a fair signal voltage applied to the grid of the detector tube there should be a very good response in the head telephones, if connected into the plate circuit of the second amplifier tube. The negative bias voltage of the grid of the second amplifier might have been somewhat higher than one volt, however, for best results with the average tube. The plate potential might also have to be increased over that of the first amplifier tube. In practice, however, it is quite common to make the grid bias potential the same in both cases and use one plate battery, the same plate potential, for both amplifier tubes, even though this does not always give maximum possible results. The simplification of operation is presumed to compensate for any loss in efficiency which might occur. In some cases, though, a slightly variable grid biasing voltage may be secured, and it can often be made great enough for practical purposes.

Because a certain audio frequency transformer has an extremely high transformation ratio it does not necessarily follow that it is the best to use with a given tube. The transformer should be designed especially for the tube with which it is to be used. Since all but the last amplifier tube normally function as voltage amplifiers, it is especially desirable to have a transformer whose primary impedance at average frequency at least equals the plate to filament resistance (output resistance) of the tube it is used with. If head telephones are used, it is generally found that there will be sufficient power in the plate circuit of an ordinary amplifier tube to operate them. Particularly, if the impedance equals the internal resistance of the tube at the average audio frequency. If a loud speaker is necessary, however, power amplification, instead of voltage amplification, is required.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP

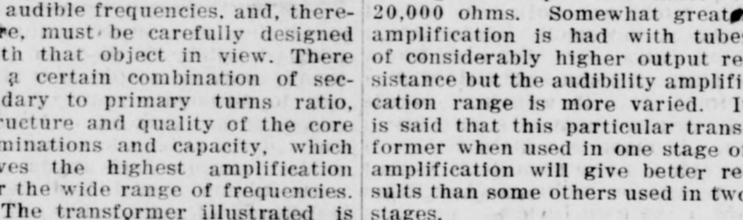

A SUPER AUDIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFYING TRANSFORMER

There are not a few audio-frequency amplifying transformers upon the market which are not especially designed for radio telephone reception, although quite satisfactory for telegraph signals. In radiotelephone reception the transformer is required to operate well on a very wide range designed with the above points in mind and possesses an agreeable freedom from distortion of the higher and lower audible frequencies. The frequency band is wide, so that no particular note is amplified to a much greater extent than any other. High amplification without distortion is had at all the most used frequencies of the musical scale. The transformer is the result of deliberate and very painstaking development.

No shielding is necessary with this transformer because of its design. The core is closed, of course, and the coils are wound upon a middle leg. The coils are well impregnated. The dimensions are as follows: Height, 3 inches; width, 2 inches; distance between outer edges of feet, 2 3/2 inches. The mounting holes in the feet are 2 3/8 inches, center to center, and are 5/32 inch in diameter.

It has been found that this transformer gives an audibility amplification of 38.6 times, or an energy amplification of 1,290 at 1,000 cycles frequency when used with the usual amplifier tube, having an output resistance of 20,000 ohms. Somewhat greater amplification is had with tubes of considerably higher output resistance but the audibility amplification range is more varied. It is said that this particular transformer when used in one stage of amplification will give better results than some others used in two stages.

of audible frequencies, and, therefore, must be carefully designed with that object in view. There is a certain combination of secondary to primary turns ratio, structure and quality of the core laminations and capacity which gives the highest amplification for the wide range of frequencies. Youthful Miss to Be Bank President

NEW YORK.—Miss Giulietta Talami of New York, the only girl in a class of forty-five to be graduated in the standard course of the American Banking Institute this year, sees no reason why women shouldn't become important executives in banks and perhaps even bank presidents.

Miss Talami has probably studied banking more seriously than any other girl in New York, as the three-year course of the institute, which is under the supervision of Columbia university, introduces the student to the broad field of banking interests and is not concerned with the attainment of clerical skill. Only those who have had practical experience in banks are admitted to the course, which covers such subjects as corporation finance, bank organization, the law of contracts and negotiable instruments, etc.

Just at present Miss Talami does not look at all like a typical bank president. Instead of a serious person, portly and settled in her habits, one sees in this aspirant an extremely pretty girl with shining, dark eyes and a beautiful flashing smile.

Miss Talami graduated from Hunter college. Later she was employed in the Guaranty Trust company of New York and for a short while by the National City bank as translator. She speaks French, Spanish, German and Italian as well as English. At present she is in the banking department of G. M. P. Murphy. Next year she expects to take the banking course at Columbia university and attain a master's degree.

"It seems to me," said Miss Talami, pausing in the midst of looking over a design book, "that every girl should be prepared to earn her own living, and should ought to earn a little better one each year. I don't say she shouldn't marry, but she shouldn't look upon work merely as a bridge from school in marriage. So many girls do that that employers do not take women workers seriously sometimes, which makes it hard for those who really expect to work and want to advance in their special fields."

"If a girl meets the right man then she should marry him, but she shouldn't count on this and so fail to prepare herself thoroughly for work. "My sister was trained in music. She was to go on the concert stage. Just when she had finished her training in Venice and had her first engagement she met some one she cared for and they were married. That was right, but if she had not met this someone she could have made her own place in the world."

Miss Talami was born in St. Louis. Her parents came to this country from northern Italy when they were very young.

HARDING IS ALOOF IN CALIFORNIA

SENATORSHIP

President Sees Johnson's Right to Re-election, Says Washington Post

Voices are being raised on all sides to refute claims made by opponents of Senator Hiram Johnson that he is an obstructionist to the Harding administration.

First denial was made by members of the southern California delegation which recently returned from Washington after appearing before committees of Congress on the Boulder Canyon bill. These men found Senator Johnson and President Harding on terms of close, personal intimacy and friendship.

Then testimony to the same effect came from the office of Attorney-General Daugherty, one of the cabinet members closest to the President, in a telegram from Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant U. S. Attorney-General, to Mrs. Oda Faulcner, Los Angeles supporter for Johnson.

The Washington Post, recognized as spokesman for President Harding in Washington, says editorially, under the heading "The California Senatorship:

"There has developed a primary fight among the Republicans in California which pretty thoroughly tests the fact of the president in keeping himself aloof from factional contests. It is no exception when the president declares he has no part in a primary contest in California. He took the same position in Indiana when his personal intimacy with Senator New must have inspired a preference but the president stoutly declined to attempt the influence of his office or his personal associations. He held to the same position in Pennsylvania and Iowa; indeed, it is an invariable rule which may be well defended. The California embarrassment to the president would be little except for the likely comment when the contest is over. The opposition to Senator Johnson is urging the choice of Moore as a supporter of the president and in case of Moore's defeat which is the likely outcome, it will be heralded as a blow aimed at the administration. The simple truth is that Senator Johnson and the president have been more or less personally intimate ever since they became colleagues in the senate in 1917. They are not always agreed on matters of policy or program, but they greatly respect one another. Because of this relationship of personal friendship and respect the president has let it be known by interview and communication that no device can draw him into the California contest. He will not consent to attempt dictation to anyone.

"He recognizes Senator Johnson's logical candidacy to succeed himself, and he recognizes the right of Senator Johnson's opponent to contest his return to the Senate. It is a fine example of the president minding strictly his own business."

A woman of Lebanon, Kan., recently sought to divorce her husband because during their twelve years of married life he had insisted on moving sixty-three times—his longest occupancy of any home being four months.

REAL SYMPATHY

The young wife entered the kitchen rather nervously and, after hesitating a few seconds, said to the cook:
"Oh, cook, I must really speak to you. Your master is always complaining. One day he objects to the soup, and the next day it is the fish, and the third day it is the roast; in fact, it is always something or other."

The cook replied with feeling:
"Well, ma'am, it must be awful to live with a gentleman like that."

Airplanes Used In Forestry Campaign

HONOLULU, T. H.—Army airplanes have been pressed into service here to assist the territorial department of forestry in the reforestation of certain inaccessible districts in the mountainous country back of the United States military reservation at Schofield barracks.

The mountain districts which are being reforested are so precipitous that the foresters have been unable to get in to do their work. An appeal made to the head of the air service forces on Oahu resulted in the loan of several planes, which in favorable weather fly over the steeper gorges, while tree seeds are dropped by members of the forestry staff, who are taken along as passengers.

Responsibility
"It's a busy life," remarked the man who was waving a palm leaf fan.
"How have you been occupying yourself?"
"Voting. It's everybody's duty to vote. In addition to voting for state, county and town officers, I voted in the primaries, got elected as a delegate, and voted over and over in the convention. Of course, I'm going to vote in the fall election, and I only hope they will let me round out my record by putting me in the electoral college."

Whole Grain Seed Is Immune From Weevil

WASHINGTON—Whole grain seed of a medium degree of hardness is immune from attack by the broad-nosed grain weevil, prevalent in Florida and found occasionally in Georgia and South Carolina, according to the department of agriculture.

The rice weevil, however, with which it is commonly associated, begins the attack, making it a simple matter for the weaker insect to reach the softer parts of the grain, experts said. Cracked, damaged or soft seed is quickly infested by the broad-nosed weevil.

LEGION TEAM NOT PRESENT; SCRUBS GIVE GAME

Seven Inning Battle Holds Interest of Crowd at the Local Ball Grounds

Members of Post No. 8, Los Angeles American Legion, evidently fell by the wayside on the way to Glendale yesterday afternoon, for only two of them arrived and the Glendale Merchants-Legion game had to be called off.

The game had been scheduled for 3 o'clock at the local ball park. A real game had been expected, the Los Angeles nine having recently finished second in the Southern California American Legion league.

In order to furnish some kind of entertainment for the crowd of fans who had assembled, Manager Cobb organized a "scrub" team on the spot, and a seven-inning game was played. Agasson, King and Cobb played on the scrub team, the first two forming the battery and "Ty" holding down second base.

Provide Tough Game

Cummings took King's place behind the plate on the regular squad, and Kerns pitched. The hastily-organized scrubs furnished a tough battle, and the seven-inning ended with a 3 to 2 score with the regulars on the long end.

Manager "Ty" Cobb was to go to Los Angeles today to learn the reason for the non-appearance of Post No. 8 team, and to book two games, one for Saturday and one for Sunday. These games will be played on the Glendale diamond at Park and San Fernando at 2:30 instead of 3 o'clock as formerly.

Cobb expressed his appreciation of the showing made by the local fans, and promised to do his best to make sure that in the future the visiting team will reach the grounds in time for the game.

Kid Essick Winner Over Tommy Morgan

Through a mistake, it was announced in the Saturday edition of The Evening News that Tommy Morgan defeated Kid Essick at the Woodmen boxing contest last Friday evening.

The facts really were that Morgan went out on his feet late in the second round and Essick was awarded a technical knockout.

Kid Essick, the winner, is to meet Howard Kendrick of Burbank at the Woodmen bout August 2, and Johnny Myers, trainer of the local boy, expects his protégé to ring up another victory.

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 17.—With the change artist who disappeared behind the back drop of William Jennings Bryan and appears a moment later as the late John L. Sullivan, the American league race has changed, over-night, into a three club proposition.

The Chicago White Sox, deemed unworthy of consideration in March, are running third today, about five games removed from the lead and less than three outsides the New Yorkers and second place. They are distinct contenders and accepted as such seriously, for the first time this season. You cannot go behind results any more than you can go behind your hip pocket.

The Sox have already flopped the Yankees twice in as many starts during the current series and they have "no hit" Robertson ready for our noble representatives today. The prospects are about as pleasant as a leering villain's smile.

The come-back of the White Sox, one of the many turn up heavals that pockmarked the major league races this year, is a great tribute to the managerial ability of Kid Gleason. What manager could lose ballplayers of Joe Jackson, Buck Weaver, Cicotte, Williams, Chick Gandil, Risberg,

Tagging All Bases

The Giants are hanging to first place on the tolerance of a single game, thanks to the fact that Bill Sherdel, left-handed them to death while the Cards mustered the only run of the game in the eighth on singles by Flack and Fournier. Jess Barnes was the innocent victim. It was the Giants' fourth straight defeat.

In one of those go as you please pastimes, the Phils knocked Alexander from under his reputation and beat the Cubs, 10 to 7. Miller hit his fourth homer in three days.

The Yanks' batting order was given a thorough over-hauling but Urban Faber went right on and pitched the White Sox to a 4 to 0 victory. A single by Ruth and two more by Schang represented the Yanks' hitting.

"I'm a devil in my own home town," sang Wilbert Robinson as he watched his Dodgers beat the Pirates 6 to 2 upon their brief return to Flatbush. It was one of Brooklyn's few victories since the club set out on its road trip. Myers' triple in the seventh clinched the game.

Edward S. Lawrence Sees Ruth In Action

Word has been received by Edward S. Lawrence, former resident of this city and office manager of the local Ford agency, stating that he and Mrs. Lawrence had arrived in Atlantic City, New Jersey, where they attended the annual national Elks' convention. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are now living at Tenafly, New Jersey. Their postoffice address is Box 37.

Mr. Lawrence, who will be remembered by his many friends as being an ardent baseball fan and enthusiast, writes that he has been a regular "customer" at the Polo grounds in New York city since his arrival four weeks ago. He states that he was present on the day that Babe Ruth, famous home-run artist, poled out his first circuit wallop with the bases loaded, since joining the New York Yankees. He also spoke of witnessing the playing of Bob Meusel, Walter Meusel and other former Coast league satellites.

SURE ENOUGH

"What in the world are you starting at that married couple so intently for?" asked one young lady of another on the train. "Oh!" said the other girl with a start and a sigh. "It's so natural for us girls to contemplate matrimony, you know."

WHISKAWAY

TWICE CONQUEROR OF THE DERBY WINNER, MORVICH, WHISKAWAY LOOKS LIKE THE CLASS OF ALL THREE YEAR OLDS OF THE AMERICAN TURF

WOOD COWAN

WHISKAWAY IS A BROTHER OF THE GREAT ST. LEONARD, SMOOTH GAITED ANIMAL, WHO IS THE FAVORITE OF THE TURF.

I CERTAINLY TOOK THE MORVICH GUN INTO CAMP.

IF DENMAN WOULD LET ME OUT I'D SHOW HIM SOME REAL SPEED.

Harry Payne Whitney Will Have His Colt Entered at Saratoga Meet

When Morvich won the Kentucky Derby as he pleased this spring, the undefeated 3-year-old was hailed as a second Man-o-War and the horse of the century. Then came the Carlton Stakes, run at the Aqueduct. Morvich was again a strong favorite. All the dope gave him the race. It was his first appearance after his derby victory.

But Harry Payne Whitney had a loss, Whiskaway by name, who was entered in the Carlton that the dopesters hadn't figured right on. This loss, Whiskaway, ran Morvich dizzy. At the end of a mile he had, the derby winner beaten, blind and staggering, and he won by a dozen lengths.

The touts squawked some mighty squawks—Morvich was off form, was handicapped by too much weight; if ever the chance came of a second meeting, he'd throw dust in the eyes of Whiskaway.

This chance came a couple of weeks after the Carlton. The scene was Latonia, Ky., and the date June 24, the race the Kentucky Special, giving $50,000. And again Morvich faced Whiskaway along with Pillory, who earlier this season won the $50,000 Preakness and the $50,000 Belmont stakes. It was the same story. Whiskaway took the whole field into camp and thereby proved, for the second time, that he is the class of the 3-year-olds.

This loss is a big, handsome, formidable colt, smooth gaited and very fast. All his brothers and sisters are sprinters. This fellow, however, proved his staying qualities by a hard drive during the last quarter in the Kentucky Special, when he beat off Thibodaux, an outsider, after he had run Morvich into the ground.

The Whitney colt will do no more racing until the opening at Saratoga next month. There he will run up against the classiest field of 3-year-olds in the country—Bunting Kai Sang, Lucky Hour, Runstar, My Play and a number of others. If Whiskaway can take these into camp as he has Morvich, he will surely have earned the title of the champion 3-year-old of the 1922 season.

No league in the country today can present a better race for battling honors than that which has been going on for the last few weeks in the Pacific Coast League. Eight or ten men all are within a point or two of each other and less than a dozen points separates the first man from the tenth. Thus every bat or hit counts with the result that there is practically a shuffling of the positions every day. For instance, here is a sample of the standings during one day last week, and it will serve to show just what kind of a race the fans are enjoying:

Smith, Vernon	Pct.
Kelly, San Francisco383
Strand, Salt Lake382
Lewis, Salt Lake381
Hale, Portland380
		.378

There are three or four men, not in the select first five who stand ready to step in and oust any of the above just because one hit more or one at bat less than the chap that now is showing in the daily list. Kelly has been off and on the list several times in as many weeks.

With victories in the singles, doubles and mixed doubles at Wimbledon Mademoiselle Suzanne Lenglen certainly vindicated herself and has more, or less, confounded the critics who assured us that she feigned sickness because she feared defeat when she was in

Is the present day track athlete as good as the stars of yesterday?

It is a question that is always being asked and the argument pro and con has waxed for years. One thing is certain that the present day athletes know little or nothing of the doings of men who competed forty and fifty years ago and less than that. Talk to a man 60 to 70 years of age who in his day was an athlete and he will startle you with tales of records and performances "when I used to run."

The average present day athlete takes the statements of the old timers "with a grain of salt," but if these youngsters had the books and facilities to look into the records of the past they would take more stock in what these old timers have to tell.

The present generation looks to Paddock as the greatest sprinter the world has ever known. They who think in such terms—and they have dubbed Paddock "the greatest human"—would be surprised to know that the present recognized world champion, Charlie Paddock, would have been just as easy for many of the old timers as Paddock's competitors are for him today. A broad rash statement, but true nevertheless, and one that we can prove with figures, accurate, official figures which we have taken out of the past and gone down into the dusty archives of ancient history to secure. Aside from sprinting the years gone by give us the names of many great athletes, particularly in the middle and long distances, and, while most of the records have been broken in the interim in these distances, the same does not apply to the sprint records. We are now referring to professional athletes, and, strange as it may seem, there are only two distances between 50 yards and three hundred in which Paddock's sprint times excel the times of stars of other days.

Speaking of old timers, some of the present generation know of W. G. George, the great little English miler and his record of 4 min. 12 1/2, still standing as the fastest mile ever run by a professional, and only of very recent years that Norman Tab, an amateur, could beat the time. How many of the present day athletes know of F. S. Hewitt's great record as a middle distance runner, and his mark of 1:52 1/4 for the half mile, made as far back as 1871. Then who of the present generation knows anything of P. Cannon, one of the greatest distance men from two miles up to five, who ever donned a shoe in Europe and whose three and four mile records made in 1888 still stand and were not beaten by an amateur until that other great runner, Shrubb, came along and beat them in his amateur days? EMERGENCY CASE

"Where are you going in such a hurry?"

"To see a friend of mine," said Mr. Gadspar. "He needs my advice."

"Is he in financial difficulties?"

"No. He's the father of a 2-year-old boy with curly hair and a dimple in his chin. I've just heard that he is planning to make the child a movie star."

national sport stands the name of one J. White who, at Hackney, Wick, England, as far back as 1863 ran from two miles up in times that would surprise the present generation. For example, the world record for an amateur for six miles is 39 min., 20 2-5 sec., by Hannes Kohlemagen, a male all the present generation knows. Yet this Mr. White of Hackney ran the distance in 29 min., 50 1-4 sec.

To show that years now gone had greater sprinters than Paddock we will present two more stories of this series on the sprints and the figures will surprise the present day follower of track sports.

WHY Glendale Should Have A Metropolitan Hotel

—The new one-third of a million dollar hotel for Glendale is practically assured if Glendale citizens quickly subscribe the few thousand dollar balance of the $30,000 of Second Mortgage Bonds.

—A hotel such as H. J. Tremain, in co-operation with Glendale citizens plans to build, has been indorsed by the Hotel Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Hotel Committee of the East Glendale Advancement Association, and would be a wonderful advantage to Glendale for the following reasons:

—It would give thousands of tourists an opportunity to live in Glendale during at least part of their stay in Southern California and be the direct means of bringing many permanent residents to Glendale.

—The building of a hotel in Glendale, the magnitude of the one planned, would help stabilize real estate values and furnish work to hundreds of men for months, as all local workmen possible would be employed in its erection.

—A first-class hotel for Glendale would help put this city on the map and widely advertise Glendale as being in the same class as Pasadena, Long Beach and Santa Barbara.

—A big institution such as a large hotel would, when in operation, furnish permanent employment to a large number of people, thereby helping in the upbuilding of Glendale.

—It would bring many thousands of dollars from outside sources, a good share of which would be spent with local business men for supplies, etc., as well as for labor.

—It would make it possible for Glendale to properly entertain delegates to conventions, and greatly aid in bringing desirable conventions to this city.

—Glendale is populated largely by people who prefer Glendale as a place of residence to any other city in California, and a GOOD Hotel would give their friends and tourists the privilege of enjoying Glendale's many advantages, and in many cases be the means of them purchasing property here.

—Many strangers have laughingly designated Glendale as "the fastest growing city in America without any hotel." As Glendale is large enough and prosperous enough to support an excellent hotel, one should be erected as soon as possible.

—Never was there a better Opportunity than NOW.

—Let every citizen of Glendale help make the present hotel project a most successful one.

ISLAND ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION IN BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—"An island which approximates the area of Missouri and has a coast line longer than that of the United States exclusive of our gulf states and Alaska, is Celebes, of Dutch East Indies," notes a bulletin from the National Geographic Society's Washington, D. C., headquarters. Discussing the island as one which has been especially inconspicuous despite the wide attention recently paid to South Pacific islands; and only emerging into interest because of the failure of a few agitators to make headway with a Dutch Indies Separatist Movement," the bulletin continues: "Celebes has been compared to a star-fish with one of its five rays missing. The name has a plural form because navigators long believed it to be an archipelago. It is as if four peninsulas had been tied together at the base. It would not be playing with words to describe Celebes as an island that is all peninsula. "New Guinea, Borneo and Sumatra are larger than Celebes and much more widely known and visited. No railroads have yet been built. The vicinities around Macassar, the chief port in the south, and the Minahassa district in the long north peninsula are the only considerable areas where European sway is more than nominal. There also are several coastal settlements.

Killing Enjoying Cock-Fight "Less than half a century ago the absolute sway of the Rajah of Goa, in the southwestern arm, extended within three miles of Macassar. Alfred Russell Wallace tells how, in the Fifties, when he was studying the curious animal and bird life of the island, he called upon this Rajah and found him enjoying his peculiar form of solitaire, a cockfight, in a shanty built in the palace grounds. Being invited to the royal residence, the naturalist said he found the queen squatting on a rough wooden arm chair, chewing the everlasting and betel-nut while a brass spittoon in front were ready to administer to her wants.

"A baboon without a tail, a wild cow whose front teeth curve back to its ears, and a bird that breaks its shell and runs off to the woods, never seeing its mother, are some of the freakish features of Celebes. Butterflies, some almost transparent, all exceedingly colorful, and cuckoos with red and yellow bills and purple tails, are among its beauties; while green snakes and red ants are two of its principal pests.

Coffee Checked Head Hunting "By demanding your morning coffee you helped stop head hunting among the natives in North Celebes. If you are depressed by too many murders on the first page of the paper propped behind your coffee cup, be cheered by the good news that the chiefs of Minahassa no longer decorate their houses with skulls nor demand that their relatives place two newly cut off human heads upon their graves. All of which came about because you, and many millions more, insist upon coffee for breakfast.

"The practical Dutch realized that the kite-like northern tail of Celebes would grow coffee. They brought seeds and javans to plant it. They offered the Celebes chiefs 5 per cent of the produce for overseeing the native cultivation. Even a Celebes head hunter or apprehensive of the serupulous honesty of the Hollander, and he recognized also the fairness of the fixed price for what he had to sell. The Dutch did not talk much, it would seem, about the infamy of cutting off one's neighbor's head; they effectually appealed to the acquisitive instinct of the natives. The method might not always work. For the light-skinned, big cheek-boned, little people of northern Celebes are gentle and amenable to civilization's ways. Head hunting with them seems to have been an acquired social habit rather than an instinctive ferocity.

Built Houses on Poles "Today you would not have to climb to a post to find the home of a Minahassa chief, and almost lose your balance at the sight of skulls as plentiful as sea shells in a Cape Cod parlor. Instead you would find a neat frame house, a courteous native somewhat inconspicuously dressed in European clothes which have supplanted his bark cloth wardrobe, and should you be asked to dinner the menu would be something like this: Roast wild pig. Stewed fowl. Fricassee of bats. Potatoes. Rice. Claret. Coffee. Beer.

"And the only thing on the menu which you might not find palatable, bats being edible when you acquire the taste, would be the coffee. Seasoned travelers insist that seldom is good coffee prepared in places where it grows.

"The history of the tribes of interior Celebes is proof of a fundamental geographical axiom—that knowledge makes for neighborliness. Villages within a few miles of each other employed different languages, and the North Celebes native was little different from his civilized brother in regarding a stranger as an enemy. While this region still is a lingual, as well as a floral rainbow, the common interest of coffee growing has developed a nomenclature which is generally understood."

Anderson of 340 West Doran street on Saturday, July 15, 1922, is to be shipped to Brewster, Minn., the deceased's former home town for interment. The body is in charge of Pulliam, Kiefer & Eyerick undertaking company.

Births The many local friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jamie B. Shea, former residents of this city, who are now living in Oxnard, will be interested to hear of the announcement of the arrival of a baby girl at the Shea household on June 26, 1922. The newcomer, who has been christened Barbara Jane Shea, is progressing nicely, as is her mother, Mrs. Shea was formerly Miss Irene Mauk of this city.

Large Crowd Attends Opening of Cafeteria More than 500 persons were served dinner Saturday night at the opening of the new C. & S. Cafeteria at 222 North Brand. A six-piece orchestra furnished the music during the evening and Glendale's newest cafeteria received a patronage which was very gratifying to the owner and manager.

Floral pieces were sent by Kilts & Jackson, Los Angeles equipment concern, which supplied a large part of the furnishings, by the T. D. & L. Theatre, Tatz's and Mrs. Estelle Clemson of Los Angeles, sister-in-law of Mrs. Louise Stocker, manager of the C. & S. In addition to these cake table was decorated with vases of carnations and baby's breath, and ornate vases of eucalyptus branches adorned the center pillars.

The interior of the cafeteria is done in two tones of gray, with cream ceiling. The serving counter and steam table at the rear to the large room is finished in white tile, and the white water service fountain just in front is topped with marble. The kitchens are spotlessly clean, and most of the equipment is run by electricity. Even the ice used is made by electricity by the cafeteria's own ice plant.

The new cafeteria, says Mrs. Louise Stocker, manager, is to be open six days a week, no meals being served on Sunday. One hundred and fifty persons may be seated at one time, and the capacity for each meal is of course several times that number. The serving hours are to be 6:30 to 9:30 a. m., 11 a. m. to 2:15 p. m., and 5 to 7:30 p. m.

The C. & S., says Mrs. Stocker, stands for courtesy and service, and it is the intention of J. T. Stewart, owner, to have the cafeteria so operated that it will live up to its name.

GUEST OVER SUNDAY Miss Eugenia Campbell of Los Angeles was a guest over Sunday of Mrs. Allie Anderson of the Golden West Sanitarium.

WAUNITA EMERY IS GUEST OF HONOR AT LUNCHEON

Bride-Elect Is Recipient of Many Gifts at Party Held at Flintridge Mrs. J. G. Huntley of 1434 Highland avenue and her daughter, Mrs. Seymour G. Smith of 416 West Wilson avenue, entertained a number of their friends last Friday afternoon at a delightful luncheon at the Flintridge Country Club house north of Pasadena. The affair, which was enjoyed by twenty-five guests, was given in honor of Miss Waunita Emery of this city, who is soon to become the bride of Jack Eaton of Santa Barbara. This was the first party given in her honor since the engagement was made public at an announcement party last Wednesday afternoon.

The early part of the afternoon was enjoyed in playing various games, particularly "Hearts," in which Mrs. Lloyd Bradley won first prize. The award, which was an elegantly designed cut-glass fish, was in turn presented to the bride-elect.

Bower of Flowers At 4:30 o'clock the guests were assembled in the daintily-appointed tea room, where a uniquely-arranged table had been especially decorated for the occasion. The color scheme was carried out in a delicately becoming combination of pale blue and pink. The elaborately-fitted room presented a sight of a rare and exquisite floral paradise. The decorations consisting of pink and white flowers, maidenhair ferns, pink rosebuds and pink tulle. Individual favors containing pink and white candy, were cleverly constructed creations of pink tissue paper.

At the close of the tea a maid appeared in the room with a telegram for Miss Emery, who was directed to read it to the guests. The message proved to be an "urgent" one, requesting that she go immediately to the parlor. As she left the door of the tea room she was given a heavy suitcase and instructed to carry it with her, "as she might find a use for it."

Upon arriving at the parlor she was confronted with a huge pile of gifts which had been presented to her by the guests. The remainder of the afternoon was enjoyed in opening and examining the many tokens of congratulation.

Those who took part in the gay affair were the guest of honor, Miss Emery; Mesdames E. U. Emery, A. L. Bryant, C. D. Lusby, C. R. Lusby; Ray Borthick, Frank C. Weiler, Owen C. Emery, Wilbur Lee, Emma Burket, Dana Burket, Noble Ripley, Wayne Smith, Lloyd Bradley, Dwight W. Stephenson, Eugene Imler and the two hostesses, Mrs. Huntley and Mrs. Smith; Misses Josephine Emery, Olive Bell Emery, Marjorie Imler, Virginia Hunter and Evelyn Gregg, all of Glendale; also Misses Melba Cornell and Mary King of Hollywood.

EYESIGHT IS GOOD YET BLINDNESS PROVES PLAIN

Blind Leaders of Blind Is the Subject of Sunday Sermon by Dr. Funk

"Blind Leaders of the Blind" was the topic yesterday morning of Dr. H. C. Funk at the Lutheran church.

"When we find heathen men right here in Glendale, who have never been baptized and who never see the inside of a church door, breaking every law of God and then learn that they have boys and girls at home who are just like them, are they not blind leaders of the blind?"

"When we know that there are mothers, who absolutely make no effort whatever to bring their families under the influence of the word of God but who prefer to go joy-riding or stay at home Sunday to do the baking, must we not think that they are blind leaders of the blind?"

"And how about some of these school teachers? We are not supposed to teach religion in the public schools so a great many people say that it doesn't make any difference what these teachers think about religion. But I take exception to such a view. It does make a wonderful difference. Those with whom you associate are influenced more by what you are than by what you say.

No, a man or woman, who has no regard for the church, for God and holy things, is not fit to teach in the public schools. And, when we see the influence of the Christian religion belittled by so-called scientific teachers in some of our state universities and false theories being taught, are they not blind leaders of the blind?"

Teachers of Blind "And, when I find teachers in the Bible school who do not make it a matter of conscience to prepare for their classes and take an active interest in them, we must regard them as blind teachers of the blind. For, if the teacher neglects the class, the scholar will become careless. How can we lift up our pupils unless we set them a good example?"

"If the pastor does not make it a matter of conscience to feed the flock, those who have been committed to his care will drift away from God and he will be called to give an account of his stewardship in the great day.

"Oh, how many people have been led astray by the false teaching or neglect of unfaithful pastors; alas, how many more have been led astray by the unfaithful teachers, unfaithful fathers and mothers—blind leaders of the blind!"

Homer B. Miller Is Back From Auto Tour

Homer B. Miller of 434 West Burchett street returned to Glendale late Saturday night after having enjoyed a nine days' automobile trip to Yosemite valley, San Francisco and other points of interest in the northern part of the state. He reported exceptional time in reaching Yosemite where he arrived in eighteen hours' running time from this city.

Mr. Miller was accompanied on the trip by Ferdinand Scholander of San Diego. Mr. Scholander, who is known to a number of Glendaleans, is employed in the San Diego office of a dental supply company of Los Angeles, of which Mr. Miller is head of the accounting department. Both men returned to their employment this morning.

Dorothy Dalton Has Lead In Unusual Production on Program Tonight

Headed by George Melford's latest production, "The Woman Who Walked Alone," with Dorothy Dalton playing the leading part, tonight's program at the T. D. & L. theatre promises to be one of the most attractive of the season. This picture, which is recognized as the best photodrama that has ever featured this prominent star, will be shown for the last time in Glendale at tonight's performance.

The picture is a combination of "unusualness," romance and adventure and is flawlessly produced with Milton Sills as the leading man. "The Woman Who Walked Alone" is one of the season's features of the screen.

To even add more to this attraction Manager Ralph Allan has booked the latest Buster Keaton comedy, "The Pale Face," which is one of the funniest that the "froze face" comedian has ever appeared in. Monte Carol is the scenic travelogue and there will also be the latest Kinograms of current news events.

Local Stockholders See Well Spouting

It's one thing to buy oil stock and quite another sensation to receive word that a well has been brought in, according to Glendale people who compose one-fourth of the stockholders in the Santa Fe Springs Oil Syndicate No. 1 which brought in a well at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. The well is said to be one of the largest wells in the field.

A. R. Goodale, branch manager of the syndicate for Glendale, stated this morning that they are holding the flow of the well down to approximately 2,500 barrels owing to a gas pressure. The well is at present producing 2,000,000 feet of gas every twenty-four hours.

Many of the Glendale stockholders motored to the well Sunday.

Methodist Choir to Present Play Again

So successful were members of the First Methodist choir in their recent presentations of "Choosing the New Minister," that they have been asked to present the operetta as an attraction of the Chautauqua course at the Pacific Park.

Choir members and their director will journey to Santa Monica next Monday night to make their ministerial selection before the Chautauqua audience.

We do not know what the flapper's long suit is, but it is plain it is not to wear.

HARRY GIRARD HAS BIG TESTIMONIAL FROM FRIENDS

Program Is One of Finest Ever Presented in City, Thrilling Audience

of Angeles by Rubenstein because of the lateness of the hour.

Greeting From Patient
The program closed with the dramatic reading by Mr. Egan of "The Littlest Child," by Richard Harding Davis. This was enthusiastically received. Two of the readings in his first group were by himself. One was entitled "The Pessimist"; the other, "The Optimist." His other reading was a poem by Robert Service entitled "It's a Mighty Good World After All."

Greetings from Harry Girard, who is now in the Sisters' hospital in Los Angeles and likely to be there for at least six months, were brought by Joseph Scott, who came to Glendale from his bedside.

"Harry wants me to express his everlasting appreciation to the splendid folks who are doing this kind act for him," remarked Mr. Scott. He concluded his remarks by reading the following poem written yesterday morning by Mr. Girard for the occasion:

TO A FRIEND
Of all the big, beautiful blessings in life,
With its battles and sorrows, its continual strife,
With its failures, its heartbreaks, its griefs, and its pain,
That you've suffered in silence again and again,
When you're licked and down and out, and come to the end of the road,
And you humbly ask God to lighten the load,
Then you know he has hardened and His blessing He'll send,
In the love and good will of a Regular friend.

New Lunch Room Opens Wednesday

Another lunch room is to be opened in Glendale, when, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, Twedell's Lunch Room will serve its first meal in the new post-office block at 207 West Broadway.

V. E. Twedell, proprietor of the place, is an experienced restaurant man. For the past seven years he has operated a cafe in Bakerfield. It is understood, he believes that there is a place in Glendale for a good lunch room, and intends to fill that place, specializing in home cooking.

The furnishing and equipping of the room is practically completed, and Mr. Twedell is now putting on the finishing touches preparatory to the opening day after tomorrow.

PAINTING OFFERS EVERYTHING ABOUT CHRISTIAN LIVES, SAYS PASTOR

Rev. C. M. Calderwood Talks on Calmann Hunts' Notes on Canvas at Cambridge

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock and if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him and I will sup with him and he with me."

This Biblical passage in Revelations 3:30 was the text of the sermon yesterday morning in Odd Fellows' hall before members of the Congregational church.

Holmann Hunt's famous painting, which is hung in Cambridge university, England, was a basis for the sermon. This is entitled "Christ, the Light of the World." It depicts Jesus standing outside the door of a dwelling with a lantern in his hand and knocking for admission.

"This is a picture of love seeking man," declared Rev. C. M. Calderwood. "God wants to dwell in man. The door is locked; the latch-string is on the inside. God can't come into our lives if we don't let Him. God gives us our wills; we can even exclude the Christ."

"This is Christ knocking at the door; the suffering Christ; Christ, the revealer of God."

Knows Soul's Value
"Christ knocks at the door because he knows the value of the human soul and because he knows the peril of the soul."

"We must have Christ in our heart if we are to have him in our life. Christ is in our heart if he is in our intellect, our conscience and our hope."

"The responsibility for opening the door is on man. 'If any man hear my voice'—We have heard the call of Christ—all of us. But that is not enough. We must open the door. If we open the door of our lives to Christ, He will come in."

"When He comes in, He will come as our guest. 'I will sup with him'—He is our companion. If He is our companion, we become His guests. 'He will sup with me.'"

"When by close companionship with Jesus we know Him; He becomes the master of our lives. Does Jesus control our lives? Do we give Him first place?"

"When Christ enters our lives He brings riches of joy, power, life and the salvation of the soul."
